Business Report for 2021

Dear shareholders,

We would like to express our most sincere gratitude to our shareholders for your support and trust in Solar Applied Materials Technology Corporation (SOLAR)!

2021 has been a year of wealth and fruitful performance for SOLAR. Normal operations have resumed since we completed the signing of a five-year NT$10.8 billion syndicated loan in June 2020, and we have visibly increased the number of orders from important clients at home and abroad after removing the the bad credit after ending debt negotiations. Moreover, we also started to evaluate investments in new niche businesses and strengthened our green and circular economy business strategies. SOLAR also published our "Our Faith and Responsibilities" book in 2021 to document our collective efforts in the 1,500 days while weathering through the storm and returning to our former glory. This book illustrates SOLAR's new corporate culture of "integrity, honesty, and coprosperity", which is also the cornerstone toward our future excellence and sustainable developments. We also wish to present this book to all shareholders who believed in us throughout this journey.

Starting in 2020, the COVID-19 pandemic has continued to affect the world economy to this day. Our proper responses exempted SOLAR from the effects of the pandemic; moreover, our engagement in a wide variety of industries meant that we were not affected by any single industry. In addition, our core industries, including data storage, semiconductors, and displays, benefited from the stay-at-home economy, thus demonstrating a steady performance on the whole. Looking back on 2021, SOLAR completed the construction of hardware and facilities for a large-scale plastic forming center designed for semiconductors, and going forward, we will be more focused on developing high-end sputtering targets as well as industries related to green economy in order to develop and enhance our global competitiveness. At the same time, we also voluntarily published our second Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) Report as we look not only to build growth momentum in our core businesses, but also continuously develop green manufacturing and practice circular economy, thereby fulfilling our responsibilities as a corporate citizen, and pursuing the common good through sustainability.

Upon revisiting the past and looking forward to the future, SOLAR will be mindful of its historical experience and internalize it to drive operational momentum and effectiveness, so as to maximize customers' and shareholders' value, thereby leading SOLAR toward excellence and sustainable development. Moving into 2022, we remain confident of continuously strengthening our growth momentum despite numerous market uncertainties arising from the COVID-19 pandemic, so as to give back to our shareholders and thank them for their long-term support!

SOLAR focuses our development efforts on three major industries, namely data storage, display, and semiconductor. While developing sputtering and evaporation materials for thin films, wiring materials, and chemical substances and other products required in these three industries, we not only serve as a stable supplier for customers, but also actively develop new materials in collaboration with market leaders, so as to expand into new application markets. Our key achievements are featured as follows:

(1) Data Storage Industry:

- Mature perpendicular magnetic recording (PMR) materials: By deploying advanced processing equipment and technologies, we have enhanced the anti-ultrafine particle contamination effect of sputtering targets for hard disk drives and facilitated customers to enhance their mass production efficiency and to continued to increase market share.
- Next generation materials for heat assisted magnetic recording (HAMR): Successfully developed ultra-fine structural technology and the new key sputtering target product has obtained certification, allowing us to develop our technical and product development blueprints along with our customers.
- Applied existing core technology in magnetic material toward magnetoresistive random-access memory (MRAM), a type of nonvolatile RAM, and memory sensing components, thereby achieving significant benefits toward new market expansions.

(2) Display Industry:

- For specialty ITO sputtering target products: Developed target optimization and automated process technologies to reduce industrial hazard and increase product yield and quality, thereby enhancing customers' coating quality.
- For IGZO targets used by next-generation high-resolution panels: New product has passed verifications by major equipment manufacturers and we are actively promoting it among major panel producers.
- By using our experiences in the display industry, we have expanded into optical film developments to apply relevant technologies toward bendable and foldable OLED and automotive displays.

(3) Semiconductor Industry:

- Developed ultra-high-purity sputtering target and super-fine large-size (18") semiconductor targets.
- Developed niche semiconductor equipment components, silver alloy ackaging wires, and test probe wires using precious/rare metals to provide customers in the semiconductor sector with a complete set of services, thus forming a full circular economy structure for the semiconductor industry.

(4) Precious/Rare Metal Recovery and Refining Technologies:

While focusing on circular economy involving eight major types of precious/rare metals, including gold, silver, platinum, palladium, ruthenium, indium, gallium, and tantalum, we have also continued to develop copper recovery and refining technologies and applications, thereby expanding our position as a leader in the precious/rare metal recovery and refining; we also continued our development efforts in the following areas:

- High-melting point metal recovery and refining technologies.
- Efficiency enhancement in low-grade scrap metal and sludge recovery and refining technologies involving eight major types of precious/rare metals.
- Full circular economy business model from electronic waste.

3. Future Research and Development Plans:

To implement our core values including "environmental protection," "value creation," and "sustainable development," SOLAR continues to develop green precious/rare metal recovery and refining technologies, expand the types of elements and waste recovered, and enhance purity in the refining process under a full circular economy model involving precious/rare metals. In addition, we practiced green, full circular economy business model to make our product lineup more comprehensive and more competitive.

In the future, SOLAR will not only continue to focus our R&D efforts on applications in three major industries, namely data storage, display, and semiconductor, through the development of new data storage materials, new optical materials, and high-end semiconductor materials, but also initiate new business development plans by expanding into advanced semiconductor, unmanned electric vehicle materials, carbon neutrality catalysts, and new energy fields.

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the consolidated financial statements as a whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the Group's consolidated financial statements of the current period are stated as follows:

Evaluation of inventories

Description

Refer to Note 4(10) for accounting policy on inventory valuation, Note 5 for accounting judgements, estimates and key sources of assumption uncertainty in relation to inventory valuation, and Note 6(6) for details of inventory. As of December 31, 2021, inventory and allowance for valuation losses are $9,784,336 thousand and $309,990 thousand, respectively.

The Group is primarily engaged in manufacturing, processing, recycling, refining and trading of sputtering targets for thin film, precious metal materials and specialty chemicals for automobiles. Since most of the Group's inventories are precious metal materials whose value is easily affected by the variations in market prices, and the calculation of net realisable value usually involves subjective judgment and a high degree of estimation uncertainty, we identified the evaluation of inventories as a key audit matter.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures on the above key audit matter:

- 1. Inspected whether the Group's inventories have been assessed based on the Group's accounting policies, and evaluated the reasonableness of the provision policies and procedures on allowance for inventory valuation losses.
- 2. Understood the Group's warehousing control procedures. Reviewed the annual physical inventory count plan and participated in the annual inventory count in order to assess the consistency of the classification of obsolete inventory and internal controls over obsolete inventory.
- 3. Checked the adequacy of allowance for inventory valuation losses based on our testing on the reports in relation to the net realisable value.

Valuation of derivative financial instruments and hedge accounting applied

Description

Refer to Notes 4(7) (22) (25) and (26) for accounting policy on valuation of derivative financial instruments and hedge accounting, and Notes 6(2) and (4) for details of financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss and hedging financial assets and liabilities. As of December 31, 2021, assets and liabilities arising from derivative instruments measured at fair value and financial liabilities for hedging amounted to $44 thousand, $5,286 thousand and $51,505 thousand, repectively. For the year ended December 31, 2021, the Group recognised net gain on derivative instruments amounting to $309,853 thousand.

The Group uses derivative instruments to hedge significant variations in the prices of precious metal materials (gold, silver, platinum and palladium gold). Derivative instruments that meet the conditions of hedge accounting are accounted for using hedge accounting. As the derivative instrument transactions are subject to high market price risk and variation in derivative pricing, and the determination as to whether the derivative instruments qualify for hedge accounting involves significant judgement, we identified the valuation of derivative financial instruments and application of hedge accounting as a key audit matter.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures on the above key audit matter:

- 1. Obtained derivative instruments transaction summary and written documents, including the minutes of Board of Directors' meeting and announcements issued based on regulations, and interviewed executives who were authorised to transact derivative instruments in order to understand the Group's transactions on derivative instruments.
- 2. Performed confirmation with financial institutions, futures commission merchant and major counterparties which had business with the Group and obtained statements in order to confirm the completeness of derivative instrument transactions.
- 3. Obtained formal designation and documentation of the hedging relationship between hedging instruments and hedged items as basis for applying hedge accounting.
- 4. Sampled and inspected the documents related to the derivative instrument transactions created or settled in the current period, and checked whether the transactions and calculation of profit and loss are accurate.

5. Obtained the derivative instrument fair value information and assessed the reasonableness of the valuation of the derivative instruments.

Other matter - Parent company only financial reports

We have audited and expressed an unqualified opinion on the parent company only financial statements of Solar Applied Material Technology Corp. as at and for the years ended December 31, 2021 and 2020.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the consolidated financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the consolidated financial statements in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers, and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of consolidated financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Group's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Group or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Group's financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the consolidated financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the consolidated financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the generally accepted auditing standards in the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these consolidated financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the generally accepted auditing standards in the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgment and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the consolidated financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- 2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Group's internal control.
- 3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- 4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Group's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Group to cease to continue as a going concern.
- 5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- 6. Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Group to express an opinion on the consolidated financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the group audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the consolidated financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.

INDEPENDENT AUDITORS' REPORT TRANSLATED FROM CHINESE

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of Solar Applied Material Technology Corp.

Opinion

We have audited the accompanying parent company only balance sheets of Solar Applied Material Technology Corp. (the "Company") as of December 31, 2021 and 2020, and the related parent company only statements of comprehensive income, of changes in equity and of cash flows for the years then ended, and parent company only notes to the financial statements, including a summary of significant accounting policies.

In our opinion, the accompanying parent company only financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2021 and 2020, and its financial performance and its cash flows for the years then ended in accordance with the Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers.

Basis for opinion

We conducted our audits in accordance with the Regulations Governing Auditing and Attestation of Financial Statements by Certified Public Accountants and generally accepted auditing standards in the Republic of China. Our responsibilities under those standards are further described in the Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the financial statements section of our report. We are independent of the Company in accordance with the Norm of Professional Ethics for Certified Public Accountants of the Republic of China, and we have fulfilled our other ethical responsibilities in accordance with these requirements. We believe that the audit evidence we have obtained is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion.

Key audit matters

Key audit matters are those matters that, in our professional judgement, were of most significance in our audit of the parent company only financial statements of the current period. These matters were addressed in the context of our audit of the parent company only financial statements as whole, and in forming our opinion thereon, we do not provide a separate opinion on these matters.

Key audit matters for the Company's parent company only financial statements of the current period are stated as follows:

Evaluation of inventories

Description

Refer to Note 4(8) for accounting policy on inventory valuation, Note 5 for accounting judgements, estimates and key sources of assumption uncertainty in relation to inventory valuation, and Note 6(6) for details of inventory. As of December 31, 2021, inventory and allowance for valuation losses are $8,042,336 thousand and $237,868 thousand, respectively.

The Company is primarily engaged in manufacturing, processing, recycling, refining and trading of sputtering targets for thin film, precious metal materials and specialty chemicals for automobiles. Since most of the Company's inventories are precious metal materials whose value is easily affected by the variations in market prices, and the calculation of net realisable value usually involves subjective judgment and a high degree of estimation uncertainty, we identified the evaluation of inventories as a key audit matter.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures on the above key audit matter:

- 1. Inspected whether the Company's inventories have been assessed based on the Company's accounting policies, and evaluated the reasonableness of the provision policies and procedures on allowance for inventory valuation losses.
- 2. Understood the Company's warehousing control procedures. Reviewed the annual physical inventory count plan and participated in the annual inventory count in order to assess the consistency of the classification of obsolete inventory and internal controls over obsolete inventory.
- 3. Checked the adequacy of allowance for inventory valuation losses based on our testing on the reports in relation to the net realisable value.

Valuation of derivative financial instruments and hedge accounting applied

Description

Refer to Notes 4(5) (20) (23) and (24) for accounting policy on valuation of derivative financial instruments and hedge accounting, and Notes 6(2) and 6(4) for details of financial assets and liabilities at fair value through profit or loss and hedging financial assets and liabilities. As of December 31, 2021, liabilities arising from derivative instruments measured at fair value and financial liabilities for hedging amounted to $4,011 thousand and $45,735 thousand, respectively. For the year ended December 31, 2021, the Company recognised net gain on derivative instruments amounting to $270,371 thousand.

The Company uses derivative instruments to hedge significant variations in the prices of precious metal materials (gold, silver, platinum and palladium gold). Derivative instruments that meet the conditions of hedge accounting are accounted for using hedge accounting. As the derivative instrument transactions are subject to high market price risk and variation in derivative pricing, and the determination as to whether the derivative instruments qualify for hedge accounting involves significant judgement, we identified the valuation of derivative financial instruments and application of hedge accounting as a key audit matter.

How our audit addressed the matter

We performed the following audit procedures on the above key audit matter:

- 1. Obtained derivative instruments transaction summary and written documents, including the minutes of Board of Directors' meeting and announcements issued based on regulations, and interviewed executives who were authorised to transact derivative instruments in order to understand the Company's transactions on derivative instruments.
- 2. Performed confirmation with financial institutions, futures commission merchant and major counterparties which had business with the Company and obtained statements in order to confirm the completeness of derivative instrument transactions.
- 3. Obtained formal designation and documentation of the hedging relationship between hedging instruments and hedged items as basis for applying hedge accounting.
- 4. Sampled and inspected the documents related to the derivative instrument transactions created or settled in the current period, and checked whether the transactions and calculation of profit and loss are accurate.

5. Obtained the derivative instrument fair value information and assessed the reasonableness of the valuation of the derivative instruments.

Responsibilities of management and those charged with governance for the parent company only financial statements

Management is responsible for the preparation and fair presentation of the parent company only financial statements in accordance with the "Regulations Governing the Preparation of Financial Reports by Securities Issuers", and for such internal control as management determines is necessary to enable the preparation of parent company only financial statements that are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error.

In preparing the financial statements, management is responsible for assessing the Company's ability to continue as a going concern, disclosing, as applicable, matters related to going concern and using the going concern basis of accounting unless management either intends to liquidate the Company or to cease operations, or has no realistic alternative but to do so.

Those charged with governance, including the audit committee, are responsible for overseeing the Company's financial reporting process.

Auditors' responsibilities for the audit of the parent company only financial statements

Our objectives are to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements as a whole are free from material misstatement, whether due to fraud or error, and to issue an auditors' report that includes our opinion. Reasonable assurance is a high level of assurance, but is not a guarantee that an audit conducted in accordance with the generally accepted auditing standards in the Republic of China will always detect a material misstatement when it exists. Misstatements can arise from fraud or error and are considered material if, individually or in the aggregate, they could reasonably be expected to influence the economic decisions of users taken on the basis of these financial statements.

As part of an audit in accordance with the generally accepted auditing standards in the Republic of China, we exercise professional judgement and maintain professional skepticism throughout the audit. We also:

1. Identify and assess the risks of material misstatement of the parent company only financial statements, whether due to fraud or error, design and perform audit procedures responsive to those risks, and obtain audit evidence that is sufficient and appropriate to provide a basis for our opinion. The risk of not detecting a material misstatement resulting from fraud is higher than for one resulting from error, as fraud may involve collusion, forgery, intentional omissions, misrepresentations, or the override of internal control.

- 2. Obtain an understanding of internal control relevant to the audit in order to design audit procedures that are appropriate in the circumstances, but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control.
- 3. Evaluate the appropriateness of accounting policies used and the reasonableness of accounting estimates and related disclosures made by management.
- 4. Conclude on the appropriateness of management's use of the going concern basis of accounting and, based on the audit evidence obtained, whether a material uncertainty exists related to events or conditions that may cast significant doubt on the Company's ability to continue as a going concern. If we conclude that a material uncertainty exists, we are required to draw attention in our auditors' report to the related disclosures in the financial statements or, if such disclosures are inadequate, to modify our opinion. Our conclusions are based on the audit evidence obtained up to the date of our auditors' report. However, future events or conditions may cause the Company to cease to continue as a going concern.
- 5. Evaluate the overall presentation, structure and content of the financial statements, including the disclosures, and whether the financial statements represent the underlying transactions and events in a manner that achieves fair presentation.
- 6. Obtain sufficient appropriate audit evidence regarding the financial information of the entities or business activities within the Company to express an opinion on the parent company only financial statements. We are responsible for the direction, supervision and performance of the audit. We remain solely responsible for our audit opinion.

We communicate with those charged with governance regarding, among other matters, the planned scope and timing of the audit and significant audit findings, including any significant deficiencies in internal control that we identify during our audit.

We also provide those charged with governance with a statement that we have complied with relevant ethical requirements regarding independence, and to communicate with them all relationships and other matters that may reasonably be thought to bear on our independence, and where applicable, related safeguards.

From the matters communicated with those charged with governance, we determine those matters that were of most significance in the audit of the parent company only financial statements of the current period and are therefore the key audit matters. We describe these matters in our auditors' report unless law or regulation precludes public disclosure about the matter or when, in extremely rare circumstances, we determine that a matter should not be communicated in our report because the adverse consequences of doing so would reasonably be expected to outweigh the public interest benefits of such communication.
